KATHLEEN PARLOW

MISS KATHLEEN PARLOW who is acknowledged the greatest Woman Violinist of the time by the entire European and American Press, is a Canadian girl, and was born in Calgary, Alberta. She is nineteen years of age and has received the honors accorded to the greatest artists of the World.

Miss Parlow has appeared with the leading Orchestra's in the States this season, and in New York and Boston, her success was phenomenal. Her tour with the Boston Symphony Orchestra as soloist was one of the events in the musical world, that will never be forgotten, and the Press wherever she appeared was unanimous in its verdict that this young girl is a genius, and that Canada has every reason to be proud of her fair daughter.

In the New York Musical Courier of March 16, 1911, the Editor writes as follows :

“ Every once in a while nature produces something for ” which no mortal can give a satisfactory explanation. Miss Parlow, the young girl born in Canada about nineteen years ago, trained in Europe by the best masters, including Auer of St. Petersburg, is one of these mysteries.

Blindfold a stranger and sit him down to hear Kathleen Parlow play the Brahms concerto as she played it last Sunday, and he would be sure to credit the performance to a great and mature artist. There was nothing feminine or youthful in her presentation of this scholarly work, and that is why this young woman must be regarded as marvel. She has everything ; a brain, supple fingers, flexible wrists, musical feeling, intelligence that is of the masculine order and a man's way of doing everything as thoroughly as it can be done. Her tone is big and soulful and she plays everything with the utmost purity of intonation. To enter into analysis of Miss Parlow's playing of the three movements would simply bring the writer back to the field of cut and dried critical expressions and such expressions should be avoided when Kathleen Parlow is the subject. She is a great artist and in judging her one almost forgets to think of sex. The most beautiful thing about the young girl's art is that she seems unconscious of her gifts. Pray to heaven that this lack of self consciousness will ever be one of her charms.”
